January IAP Workshop

Brain-Computer Interfaces: Igniting a Revolution

Two-day workshop

January 7-8, 2010, on the MIT Campus

Presented by the X PRIZE Lab and Singularity University

Imagine a direct connection between the human brain and the world's most powerful computers...

Would you type with your thoughts?

...help the blind to see?

...give an amputee control over his bionic arm?

...super-charge your memory with digital RAM?

If you had $20 million to catalyze these sort of breakthroughs, what could the world achieve?

Join the X PRIZE Lab@MIT and Singularity University for a special IAP workshop on Brain-Computer Interfaces: Igniting a Revolution.

Special guests include:

* Ed Boyden, Director of the MIT Synthetic Neurobiology Group

* Ray Kurzweil, Chancellor of Singularity University

January 7-8, 2010 on the MIT campus

Broad participation is welcome, but seats are limited.
